Immigrations and Customs | International Flights

You must present a valid passport on entry to the country.

During the flight to Mexico you will receive and must fill out a customs immigration form. Visitors must present one completed Immigration Form for each passenger arriving in country. The Immigration Officer will review and then return one portion of the Immigration Form that must be kept in your possession until collected by airport personnel when you leave the country.

After processing through Immigration, retrieve your luggage and proceed to Customs. You will hand the Immigration Form to the Customs Agent. For T2 international and T3 arriving passengers, further Immigration inspection is lottery-based. Visitors will press a button on a “traffic light” which flashes red or green (green means continue, a red light necessitates further inspection). If arriving via T4 you will be required to pass an inspection if your bag shows a sticker on pick up at baggage claim. Officials will perform a quick, courteous inspection.

Procedures vary a bit at each terminal. At the international terminal visitors will find complimentary luggage carts next to the carousels, and there are no skycaps available. Luggage carts may only be used inside the airport building.

Local Personal Safety Information

Like any foreign place traveled to, it is important to stay mindful of your surroundings. Cancun’s Hotel Zone is a popular, tourist friendly area. However, it is recommended that visitors explore the local tourist zones and schedule participation in group tours to visit the many other interesting and beautiful attractions around Cancun.

When you need to arrange for taxi service during your stay, please ask the hotel concierge for assistance.
